Strategy of the Eastern Partnership Civil Society Forum for 2018-2020

Introduction

The Strategy of the Eastern Partnership Civil Society Forum will cover the 2018-2020 period and will be aimed at logically continuing the Strategy of the EaP CSF for 2015-2017 and the preceding Concept paper “EaP CSF - An Active Partner in Democratic Transition and European Integration”.

The strategy outlines the major internal and external factors that will affect the work of the EaP CSF in the described period, reformulates the vision and mission of the EaP CSF and sets goals and objectives for 2018-2020. The Strategy also describes the major areas of activities contributing to each of the objectives and proposes tools and mechanisms allowing to effectively distribute responsibilities within the Forum and make thematic prioritisation.

Situation analysis

External context

The strategy implementation is influenced by various political components reflecting EU foreign policy priorities, multilateral and bilateral dimensions of the Eastern Partnerships, political fluctuations in the EaP countries, EU-Russia relations, relations between the EaP countries with Russia, relations between the EaP countries themselves, unresolved conflicts, internal political processes in the EaP countries etc.

One of the major factors affecting the processes in the region is the influence of Russia and the EU-Russia relations. After the launch of the Eastern Partnership Russia has explicitly opposed the process of integration of the six newly independent states where it still has a varying degree of influence. Russia exerts its pressure in the Eastern Partnership region mainly via the presence of Russian financial and political capital, their trade and energy dependence, labour migrants, corruption links, annexation and occupation policy and incitement of internal conflicts. All of these pressure mechanisms were used during the last decade. The refusal of the former Ukrainian President Viktor Yanukovich to sign the EU-Ukraine Association Agreement, the Russian aggression in Ukraine following Euromaidan and the U-turn from signing the association agreement with the EU by Armenia in 2013 are the most telling examples of this.

In this respect the position of the EU varies from situation to situation based on the internal processes in the EaP countries. The EU continues to implement the “more for more” principle and principle of differentiation as stated in the ENP review, however, the application of these principles is also relative due to various challenges the EU is currently facing. Brexit, refugee crisis, growing populism in some EU member states, terrorism and the US elections have all put the EU in a situation when it needs to concentrate on its internal stability and stronger integration within the Union.

The unfavourable and even worsening environment for the civil society operation in some EaP countries, as well as the unwillingness of the national authorities to consider the civil society as a partner - some of the EaP National Authorities prefer to ignore that the EaP CSF was formed to ensure the involvement of the civil society in the process of the EaP implementation - hampered the achievement of some of the goals set by the EaP CSF in the previous strategy.

On the multilateral level, the Eastern Partnership 20 Deliverables for 2020, where the engagement with civil society is mentioned among the key cross-cutting priorities, and the Global Strategy for the European Union’s Foreign And Security Policy, are the major reference documents that outline strategic priorities of the EU in the Eastern Partnership and will serve as the guidelines for the the EaP CSF work.

The Joint Declaration of the Eastern Partnership Summit in Riga and Joint Communication on "A Strategic Approach to Resilience in the EU’s External Action" are providing further guidance and context for elaborating future commitments on both the EU and EaP countries side.

The bilateral reference documents that will steer EaP CSF’s work for the period 2018-2020 are the AAs/DCFTAs with Georgia, Moldova and Ukraine, as well as the Association Agendas and Annual Working Plans. The latter enable broader participation in the policy-making process both at the level of development, implementation and monitoring of their implementation that is ensured through institutionalised cooperation with NPs and newly established bilateral Civil Society Platforms.

For Armenia, the Comprehensive and Enhanced Partnership Agreement (CEPA) will become the major document outlining the bilateral commitments. The Armenian National Platform of the EaP CSF should play a role in the implementation of the measures specified in the agreement and become an institutionalised civil society partner with regards to the implementation of the Agreement.

Azerbaijan is negotiating with the EU a new comprehensive agreement that should provide for a better involvement of the civil society and the National Platform in the bilateral processes.

Belarus is negotiating the Partnership Priorities that set the major commitments within the bilateral cooperation framework under the reviewed ENP policy.
In addition, the Human Rights Dialogues are currently conducted with all EaP countries and need to be monitored by the civil society. Armenia benefits from GSP+\(^1\) with the EU. Regularly monitoring compliance with the GSP+ commitments particularly following up on GSP+ country monitoring reports and contribution with additional information if needed should be done by the EaP CSF.

Beyond the scope of relations with the EU, the EaP CSF will focus its work around the commitments adopted by the EaP countries within the process of higher education reform (Bologna Process), as well as within other international organisations, namely the Council of Europe.

Internal context

During the implementation of the 2015-2017 Strategy the Forum has managed to position itself as a valued stakeholder of the EaP. It has become a trusted and representative regional civil society platform developing consolidated opinion, providing advice and expertise and communicating it to the decision-makers.

The EaP CSF has functioned as a platform of regional solidarity and advocacy actor that reacts to major developments in the EaP region by voicing its position and provides crucial, often alternative information for the decision-makers.

Being the institutionalised part of the society, the EaP CSF has been successful in articulating the needs, expectations and perceptions of societies vis-à-vis the EaP national authorities and EU decision-makers.

The growing level of expertise of the EaP CSF member organisations allowed the Forum to conduct a number of successful advocacy campaigns and activities among others aimed at strengthening the EaP as a region via economic, social, cultural and political integration between themselves and with the EU.

Despite the above mentioned, the EaP CSF is not fully utilising its potential due to its complicated architecture not fully corresponding to the goals the Forum sets for itself, as well as some gaps in the institutional capacity, ineffective internal processes, lack of motivation and sense of ownership among Forum members, misperception of the essence of the EaP CSF membership and its role by the EaP CSF members and external stakeholders.

• To support stronger ties between the civil society (primarily the EaP CSF National Platforms) and the local mainstream media.

Strategic Goal 3: To strengthen the role of the EaP CSF in the EaP policy development and implementation

To perform its role in the EaP, the Forum should be strong institutionally, with well-developed sense of internal solidarity among its members, and work effectively with the EU and national authorities in the EaP countries utilising its unique position in the EaP architecture. The EaP CSF needs to be well-equipped with effective mechanisms that will allow it to promptly react to the dynamic situation in the region by developing policy positions, rigorous communication and advocacy and have a dynamic membership.

Objective 3.1: To improve the EaP CSF institutional capacity allowing the Forum to fully utilise its expertise in the process of the EaP policy implementation.

• To improve the engagement of the EaP CSF EU member organisations in the Forum’s activities and advocacy, consequently contributing to better understanding of the EaP region in the EU member states
• To strengthen the advocacy activities of the Steering Committee members on behalf of the EaP CSF.

Thematic priorities and operationalising the strategy

The thematic priorities for the EaP CSF for 2018-2020 will be developed based on:

1. The official EaP agenda (key documents: 20 deliverables for 2020; implementation plans for the EaP Platforms and panels).
2. Topics initiated by the CSF based on common interests of its members, regional/multilateral priorities and gaps identified in the official agenda.
3. Need to react to rapid and sometimes unforeseen changes in the region, political, social and economic fluctuations in a particular EaP country or the region in general, including elections, civic uprisings, conflicts, etc.

The first mechanism is mainly targeting the Objective 1.1, while application of the second and the third mechanisms contribute to the implementation of the Objective 1.2 and provides the EaP CSF with additional flexibility in terms of both utilising its expertise and being able to respond to force majeure situations in the region.

The major document that sets multilateral priorities is the 20 deliverables for 2020 which allows for identifying the sets of thematic priorities for Working Groups of the EaP CSF. Cross-cutting priorities relate to several WGs at once; in addressing these deliverables inter-WG cooperation should be promoted.

The table in Annex 1 illustrates the indicative thematic division of 20 deliverables for 2020 in accordance with the EaP CSF working group division. Detailed description of the CSF interventions for each deliverable will be developed by WGs and will become a part of the WG annual work plans.

Another important aspect helping define the thematic priorities is the already developed expertise and the track record of the EaP CSF. Namely, the products developed through the re-granting scheme allow to identify several areas that are of particular interest for the Forum members and thus can be included in the list of thematic priorities for the 2018-2020 period. This means that one part of re-granting projects should ensure continuity of most successful activities and the other should give opportunities for new initiatives proposed by Forum members. The table in Annex 2 presents the major topics that were covered via the re-granting projects in past two years.

Actions aimed at operationalising the strategy:

In order to effectively implement the strategy, an organised effort from all the EaP CSF structures is needed. It is crucial to ensure adequate distribution of duties among the Secretariat, the Steering Committee, National Platforms and Working Groups.

- Development of the WG annual work plans,
- Development of the NP annual plans,
- Development of the CSF annual plan, including the advocacy strategy and communication strategy,
- Development of CSF fundraising plan,
- Development of NP fundraising plans. The EaP CSF shall support NPs in their fundraising activity to ensure sustainable work of the platforms, including operation of national Secretariats.
